

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A breakable syringe includes a barrel, a connecting member, a needle, and a plunger. Thus, the needle can be retracted into the barrel after use, thereby preventing the user or other person from being hurt by the protruding
5 needle, so as to provide a safety effect. In addition, the plunger can be broken, so that the needle is stored in the barrel, thereby achieving the safe and sanitary effect.